

National Nonwoovens' Booth at Spring Quilt Market 2015

Market Magic!

Highlights from Spring Quilt Market 2015

Have you been to a Quilt Market? If so, then you know about the excitement during Sample Spree on the eve of show opening. You remember the magic as you walk through the expo doors on the first day and see the beautiful booths.

Once again, Spring

Quilt Market 2015 delivered both excitement and magic thanks to the new products and patterns found in every aisle. National Nonwoovens added to the aura of enchantment with the Dreamcatcher Series. Mystical environments and rich hues from native cultural heritages inspired this new WoolFelt® collection. All six new colors (see page 3) are in the TOY002 Product line consisting of a wool-rayon blend of 35% wool.

We want to give a special thanks to the designers and pattern/kit companies who provided the models that decorated our booth. Some of these companies include

American Homestead, Annie's Keepsakes, Artsi2, Blueberry Backroads, Cottonwood Creations, DesignAndBeMary, Heidi Boyd Whimsy Kits, Jamie Fingal Designs, Jennifer Jangles, Kid Giddy, Kreative Threads, Little Pincushions Studio, Lumenaris, Mmmcrafts, Pearl Louise Designs, and Pieceful Designs.

Quilt Market is an incredible event for more than new products. It's the networking and friendships formed that make it truly special. This year National Nonwoovens was fortunate to reconnect with many industry friends, both exhibiting and attending.

What a wonderful pleasure it was to have Barri Gaudet of Bareroots right next to National Nonwoovens! The Bareroots booth was full of fabulous new WoolFelt Projects, including her new Chalkcloth Runners made with WoolFelt.

The Bareroots Booth. Barri Gaudet is writing on one of her new Chalkcloth Runner.
