

Favorite Keepsake Stockings

Everyone knows hanging decorative stockings is perhaps the most cherished of holiday traditions. Stockings are both a special keepsake and a tremendous source of delight to children of all ages when they peek inside to find what Santa left them.

to make a wool felt stocking for her son Jaxon to match her Grandfather's stocking. Amazing, Virginia's mom kept a color card from the 1950s so they could trace the felt source back to National Nonwovens!

Jaxon clutching Great Grandfather Jack's Christmas Stocking made in the 1950s from National Nonwovens' 100% wool felt.

What you may not know is holiday stockings have been made with wool felt from National Nonwovens for over seven decades going back to Making a WoolFelt® stocking is a perfect way to start a new family tradition. If you are like Virginia (because yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus when it comes to quality wool felt), they are also perfect for continuing a tradition spanning generations.

the 1950s and before when the company was named Commonwealth Felt and National Felt. At that time, the WoolFelt® brand was named Perfection Brand Felts.

You may recall a FeltNews story from 2010 when National Nonwovens received a call from a mother named Virginia Morris. Virginia was hoping Celebrate this season by buying some of our all-time and new favorite WoolFelt® stocking patterns and kits.

Woolhearts
Green Tree (left) and Minimalist (right) Stocking Kits. Designed by Kathy Bigott. woolhearts.etsy.com

Oley Valley Primitives
Christmas Tree (left) and Snowman (right) Stocking Kits & Patterns. Designed by Bev Stevens. www.oleyvalleyprimitives.com

mmmcrafts
Mistleholly stocking pattern. Designed by Larissa Holland. mmmcrafts.etsy.com.

Crawford Designs
Got Your Nose (left) and Helping Hands (right) Stocking Kits. Designed by Barbara Crawford. crawforddesignspatterns.com